About the WILLIMANTIC BREWING CO./MAIN STREET CAFÉ

Our original Main Street Café was founded in 1991, and began operations as a small deli in the old Capitol Theatre building on Main Street. Occupying the lobby and concession area of the theatre, seating was limited to 50. After three years, we were bursting at the seams and made the move to 877 Main Street, another historic building. There we expanded to a full service restaurant and featured American craft-brewed beers and a very extensive menu.

One more move was in the cards for us, and we made yet another trek up Main Street to our home in this granite and limestone 1909 U.S. Post Office Building. Abandoned in 1967 by the Federal Government, this building lay vacant for nearly 30 years. When used as a post office, our dining room was the post office work room, our pub was the customer lobby and the private dining room housed the postmaster's office. Although extensive renovations have been made to the building, we wanted to retain the early 20th century architecture as well as create a pleasant atmosphere for dining. Remnants of post office memorabilia have been preserved to add to the flavor of the restaurant. Featured in our dining room is a 12' by 17' mural, created by Gordon MacDonald, depicting a 1930's Main Street scene. A 60' mahogany bar, crafted by Peter Huckins, is the centerpiece of the pub area.

It is in this building that the Willimantic Brewing Company was born. Viewed from our Dining Room, our 7 bbl brewery produces our freshly made handcrafted beers. Please feel free to explore our main floor and discover all our hidden treasures. On behalf of our entire staff, we welcome you and hope you share our excitement for our living landmark restaurant and pub brewery.
